

THE MACON BEACON.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY
BY P. T. FERRIS.
Subscription, in advance, per annum $1.50.
Saturday, June 23, 1890.

Don't Forget

That the Beacon made up on Friday evening. All local items and business notices should be handed in not later than Friday morning, all advertisements and communications to be received by Thursday. All can be better attended to before Thursday.

Clay county has instructed for Clark Lewis for Congress as his own successor.

We think the discussions in the Constitutional Convention will establish the fact that Mississippi is not in the Union on a footing with the original states. The state's rights doctrine is that when a state is created, its sovereignty as to all local matters is complete and supreme, that the people may then amend the state constitution or make a new one at will; that the Legislature is free to make such laws as it may please, provided they do not conflict with the Federal Constitution, and Congress will be powerless to interfere. Under restriction made by Congress neither Virginia, Texas or Mississippi can make a property or educational qualification for voters, but every other state in the Union can now amend their Constitutions and make such tests.

We are anxious to see how this great question is to be handled by the state's representative and the great legal luminaries who have studied the question.

Jackson, June 20.—The room of J. R. Preston, State Superintendent of Education, was entered last night by a burglar, and his $150 gold watch stolen.

The Kind Not Wanted

Recent political history in Mississippi has well developed the fact that the men most wanted in the Constitutional convention are those who feel the responsibilities to be incurred and regard themselves incompetent to deal with these responsibilities to the best interests of the State.

It is the little jackanapes with one inadequate idea who is coloring to get there. He imagines because he represents himself and a dozen others who agree with him, that he is thoroughly competent to frame a whole constitution under which the people are to live for years.

The redeeming trait of ability is modesty, as is shown in the lives of all really great men. These accept responsibility when put upon them, but they are slow to put their appreciation of themselves forward.

Even if some small fellow should represent a current idea, he is liable at any moment to be willing to sacrifice the best interests of the State to some other question because he is such an inconsequential ass as not to see his own stupidity.

The kind of men wanted in the convention are men who have ability enough to confess their incompetency. The kind not wanted are those who are on the last verge of the convention because they think themselves capable of measuring the duties and of influencing the result.

And it is these same fellows who would sacrifice the dearest interests of the State for the sake of the honor of having their names inscribed on the list of those who signed the constitution, so that in this record their names may live in the history of the State.

Let this history be what it may; there will be some noted names preserved to posterity. The others will be as some names upon the tombstones of a graveyard. Blessed is the inscription but damned in recollection.—Meridian News.

Just as sure as hot weather comes there will be more or less bowel complaint in this vicinity. Every person, and especially families, ought to have some reliable medicine at hand for instant use in case it is needed. A 25 or 50 cent bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is just what you ought to have and all that you would need, even for the most severe and dangerous cases. It is the best, the most reliable and most successful treatment known and is pleasant to take. For sale by T. S. Murphy.

Prentiss County Horticulturist.
We clip the following from the Bonville Plain Dealer of the 14th inst. Why cannot truck farming be carried on as extensively and as profitably along the M. & O. R. R., as along the Illinois Central?

Beans! Beans! Car load last Saturday, half car load Tuesday and car load yesterday, and still they come. Prices remunerative.

Strawberries are still being shipped and are bringing better prices than at the beginning of the season.

Tomatoes are ripening, and our growers will commence shipping this week. Prospect good for an abundant crop.

P. B. Mitchell has made about three hundred gallons of wine from his strawberries. He says it is first class. The strawberries are blooming out and will bear a second crop.

A representative from a commission house in Canada will be here to-morrow. He wants two car loads of tomatoes next week.

Our truck farmers are every year largely increasing their acreage of egg-plant and our fruit men are all the time enlarging and improving their orchards and vineyards. With our present prospects, with a box factory and a canning factory, we think it will be but a few years until Bonville will be the largest shipper of fruits and vegetables, both fresh and canned, in the State of Mississippi. We are surely blooming right along, and we want good, substantial and industrial people to come and share our prosperity with us.

Dandruff eradicated, the scalp made clean, and gray hair restored to its original youthful beauty and vigor by the use of Hall's Vegetable Sulfur Hair Renewer.

The First Step

Perhaps you are run down, can't sleep, can't think, can't do anything to your satisfaction, and you wonder what ails you. You should heed the warning, you are taking the first step into nervous prostration. You need a Nervine Tonic and in Electric Bitters you will find the exact remedy for restoring your nervous system to its normal, healthy condition. Surprising results follow the use of this great Nervine Tonic and Electric Bitters. Your appetite returns, good digestion is restored, and the blood and kidneys receive healthy action. Try a bottle. Price 30c. at J. F. Ferris.

The Hemingway Trial

Jackson, Miss., June 19.—G. M. Williamson, of this city, was announced this morning as counsel for the State in the Hemingway case. The first witness was G. G. Dillard, of Natchez. He stated that he was a member of the State senate finance committee in 1886. The legislature of that year authorized the issuance of $200,000 of bonds. Hemingway was before the committee and stated that the treasury contained $7,400, and $70,000 was due. Col. Hemingway stated to the committee that he could not use the insurance deposits, as that was a trust fund and was in the treasury in original and not been used. The committee argued that he should use the deposits, as he had the right to do under the law.

Under cross-examination by the defense, he stated that he had written two newspaper articles severely criticizing Col. Hemingway, when he was told to stand aside.

The next witness was Oliver Clifton. His evidence was not material. He was summoned to show the amount of outstanding bonded indebtedness of the State, as was shown by a compilation he published while editor of the Clifton.

R. C. Patti was put on the stand and occupied it nearly all day. He stood by the figures as submitted by the commission of which he was a member, and which has been published in full. He was put through a very rigid cross examination, which elicited nothing new and which he stood remarkably well. He is considered the most formidable witness of the State.

R. H. Wildberger, the expert of the legislative committee, was put on the stand and pending his examination court adjourned.—Commercial Herald.

Jackson, Miss., June 21.—The first week of the trial of ex-Treasurer Hemingway, charged with the embezzlement of upwards of $315,000, closes to-night and the State announces and rests, except in rebuttal. The line of the prosecution has been simply to prove by the legislative committee, the State's expert and the late Chief Clerk of the Treasury, that the printed reports of the Treasurer, and the books of the Treasury, from which the reports were made, and which show the balance above mentioned to be due the State are correct. With this end in view a cart load of books was hauled to the court-room, and the examining the books has been an exhaustive and tedious. The District Attorney claims that the correctness of the Treasurer's reports and books showing his indebtedness to the State has been fully established; also that the proof shows that large loans were negotiated for which the certificates of the State were pledged, and for which there are no entries made on the books of the Treasury.

The defense expert who has been examining the books for two months or more, will testify, it is understood, that besides the errors of over $40,000 which he swore in his affidavit for conviction the books had found, that he will attempt to demonstrate that a thorough examination of the books will show that Hemingway is not indebted to the State at all.

Jackson, June 23.—The defense opened its side in the Hemingway case this morning. Several old friends of Col. Hemingway from Carroll county were on the stand and one after another testified to the good character and honesty as both boy and man. Affidavits were also read from Senators George and Wallhall, both of whom testified to his great worth and high character. They had known him thirty years or more. Most of the morning was consumed in testimony as to Col. Hemingway's private and public character.

Judge Hemingway, of the Supreme Court of Arkansas and brother of W. L. was on the stand and asked some unimportant questions.

Collins Hemingway, chief clerk of the treasury department, testified as to the position held by Col. Hemingway in the treasury department, and his testimony was of no particular value to either side, they were simply going over old ground.

Capt. O. J. Waite, cashier of the First National Bank testified that he had made a statement some time since of the condition of the bank, and that he had found numerous mistakes on the books. He referred to the bond account of $227,000 to the agricultural college fund and said that up to 1890 about $153,000 in interest was due and had been paid by Col. Hemingway, for which he did not think any credit had ever been given. He was questioned as to some length about the matter and private accounts kept by Col. Hemingway at the bank; that the two accounts were very distinct, and that the private account was still open, while the treasury account was closed in December, 1889. The expert, Le Roy Douglas, of Mobile, will be examined this evening, and some new developments are looked for.—News.

Jackson, Miss., June 24.—The afternoon session of the Hemingway trial yesterday evening, was consumed in the examination of LeRoy Douglas, the expert employed by Col. Hemingway to examine his treasury books. Mr. Douglas claimed to have found an error in the account of the University of Mississippi in favor of Col. Hemingway, amounting to $8100; an error in the account of the Liquidating Leave Board or Emmet Bank Fund of about $6000, and in the interest on bonds due since 1870, amounting to $23,000. Other likely probable errors, making the aggregate something over $40,000, were pointed out by witness, but he said he had not had time to "run them down" and did not know whether some of them were real errors or not. Mr. Douglas made very light of the system of book-keeping used by the Treasury and said it was no wonder at all. His cross-examination was very complete and exhaustive, and he looked like he was very glad to get away from the examination of the books and his associate counsel, C. M. Williamson. This morning Dr. John P. Hunter was examined by the State. Col. Hemingway was confined to his room three months in 1885, to which circumstance Dr. Hunter testified, stating that defendant fractured his knee-cap in 1888 and was laid up two or three months. Dr. Chas. B. Galloway testified to the good character of Col. Hemingway, after which the defense announced it would rest the case.

The State then recalled Mr. Wildberger to rebut the testimony of Mr. Douglas. He took the account of the treasurer with the University of Mississippi, and traced up the item of $8,100, which Mr. Douglas stated Col. Hemingway ought to have credit for. He showed very conclusively by the report of the auditor and treasurer from 1882 to 1885 that Col. Hemingway had received credit for everything with which the auditor had charged him. The Emmet Bank Fund item was traced down to the same way and it was shown that Col. Hemingway was entitled to no credit on his general fund on that account. The State then announced it was through, and Judge Christian asked for the instructions. Defense handed in their, but Mr. Miller asked for time to get his act, and wanted to see the State's defense, which was refused until he and gotten his ready for an exchange. Mr. Miller asked for a recess until 4 o'clock, but the court refused to adjourn to a later hour than 3 p. m.

Jackson, June 25.—The instructions for the State and defense in the Hemingway case were read to the jury this morning, and now the arguments are being made. It is thought here that the court's instructions are very liberal with the defense, and that under them an intelligent jury can hardly be convinced the ex-treasurer of embezzlement.

Hon. C. M. Williamson opened the case for the State in a speech of one hour and two minutes. He reviewed the testimony from beginning to end and made very light of the testimony introduced by the defense to prove the good character of the defendant, and said he noticed they had been very careful not to try to prove any character for Col. Hemingway since this embezzlement became known. His speech was pronounced a masterly effort and made everything look pretty black for the defendant.

He was followed by Judge S. S. Calhoun, Marcellus Green and Col. W. L. Nugent for the defense. Their appeals for justice were strong and the grounds upon which they asked it were that sufficient time had not been given him to get up a correct statement, and that as far as they had been able to examine they had already found thousands of dollars in mistakes. They commented at length upon the previous good character and reputation of Col. Hemingway, and explained many of the items claimed to have been embezzled. Their speeches were all to the point and made fine impressions on the large audience, whether the jury was moved to compassion or not.

District Attorney Miller is closing for the State, and the jury will be left to decide the question tonight. Retainers were given to two to one that it will be a hung jury.

Jackson, Miss., June 26.—Arguments in the great Hemingway case were closed last night by District Attorney Miller in one of the most powerful speeches that was ever delivered in the Capital City of Mississippi, either before a jury, in the Supreme Court room or in the legislative halls.

This morning an hour before court convened a large crowd had assembled to hear the verdict read, it having been reported on the street that one had been reached. Col. Hemingway sat immediately in front of the judge's bench when the clerk read the verdict: We, the jury, find the defendant guilty as charged in the indictment and recommend him to the mercy of the court. He was totally unprepared for such a revelation, and was utterly stunned by the force of the blow, but made no demonstration to indicate its effect, except that his countenance assumed an ashen hue, and he seemed at last to realize the full extent of his situation.

Judge Calhoun then offered the following motion: And now comes defendant and waives the arrest of judgment because the indictment as returned into court does not charge any offense known to the laws of the state. After discussion by the state and defense, the court overruled the motion.

The defense then made another motion, asking for a new trial, but Judge Christian overruled the motion and asked Col. Hemingway if he had anything to say for himself. He replied "I have nothing to say," but after a slight pause he continued: "I believe I will make a few remarks. Realizing the terrible situation in which I am placed, I find it extremely difficult to formulate words to express my feelings. I must protest against the undue haste with which the case has been worked up against me. The district attorney has worked against me with a vigilant persecution heretofore unheard of. He made the original affidavit against me and took no steps to fix the amount of the bond, and after being fixed he made no effort to have it raised, which goes to show he believed in the depth of his heart that I was innocent."

The amount of my bond is only $25,000, and the amount I am accused of abstracting is over $315,000. How easy it would have been for me, if guilty, to have made the little bond and gone beyond the jurisdiction of this court, or any other court. Never before has a case of such magnitude and importance been brought to trial in such an unwarrantable and hasty manner. Errors have been discovered and proven here which, if not for the last speech of the district attorney, would not only have created a doubt, but absolutely carried conviction of my innocence. His speech was the most unfair, unjust and dishonorable that ever fell from the lips of a law officer.

"I stand before this court and this audience and assert my innocence. I have been convicted by a jury of my countrymen; I may go to the penitentiary and die there, and when I go to the bar of God may go to hell, but thank God, I will never fall to the level of that man, [pointing to the attorney]. This trade of abuse heaped upon the district attorney by the convicted ex-treasurer, created a fearful excitement. Col. Hemingway stood until Judge Christian said, "a sentence you to the penitentiary for five years," and then breaking down completely, he dropped in a chair and burying his face in his hands wept aloud, bewailed the disgrace that had fallen upon his family, and with the arms of his son around his neck, cried as if his heart was broken, and denounced Mr. Miller as a "villain and a scoundrel," repeating it over and over again. During this pandemonium, when his relatives and friends were offering consolations and repeating their assurances of belief in his innocence, Judge Calhoun arranged for an appeal, and Col. Hemingway was released on a $10,000 bond to appear before the Supreme Court in October next.

Did More Good than All Other Tonics or Quinine.
Mrs. Mary A. Stevenson, Dresden, Texas, writes: "Your Hughes' Tonic did me more good than all the other Tonics or Quinine taken by me. It will not break the Child, but Hughes' Tonic acts like a charm. Sold by Druggists."

Mr. R. O. Boon, traveling passenger agent of the Illinois Central road, last week arranged for the transportation of nineteen men, eight women and twelve children from Okitibela county for Africa.—Examiner.

The prohibitionists who spoke at the National Temperance congress in New York the other day were, many of them, very wrathful. Three of them cried for blood and one insisted that if the Federal Constitution stood in the way of Prohibition it should be wiped out. For instance, Henry Clay Bascant, said that if the constitution didn't permit prohibition it was his duty to get rid of it. If whiskey was dominant in this country he was prepared to shoulder the musket. Then Joseph Cook of Boston made an "appeal to Philip Sober." It was decidedly sensational. Speaking of the power of the saloon, he said: "I fear that ultimately may need the musket." And Gen. Green Clay Smith of Kentucky was also very much afraid that the musket would flow before the fight for prohibition could be won.—Commercial.

The following item clipped from the St. Madison (Iowa) Democrat, contains information well worth remembering. "Mr. John Roth of this city, who with an accident a few days ago, was laid up, was cured by one 40 cent bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm." This remedy is without an equal for sprains and bruises and should have a place in every household. For sale by T. S. Murphy.

SPECIAL PREMIUMS.

To be Awarded at the 7th Annual Fair of the Natchez Co. Agricultural Society, to be held Oct. 21-24, 1890.

GRAIN, HAY &c.

46 R. C. Patti, $2.50 for the best half bushel of corn.
47 B. K. Jacobson, manure and dealers in clothing and gent's furnishing goods. Mobile, $2.50, thro' Dr. J. C. H. Jones, for the best 25 lbs of corn.
48 E. C. Jamison, $3.00 for the best display of pop corn raised and exhibited by a boy under 15 years old.

49 B. K. Jacobson, Lauer & Co., whole sale clothiers, New York, offer thro' a stylish spring overcoat for the best of less than 10 lbs, not less than 75 pounds.
50 D. L. Gaskill, tobacco, Salisbury, N. Carolina, $5.00, thro' Ames & Adams, for the best 2 pounds leaf tobacco.

COTTON.

51 Leonard Krower & Co., wholesale jewellers, New Orleans, offer thro' M. B. Haynie, a "novelty cotton clock," worth $3.00, for the best bale of long staple cotton, weighing not less than 450 pounds, raised by the exhibitor in Natchez county and exhibited by him.

52 Sundry subscribers to the cotton premium $7.50, for the best long staple cotton, same condition as in special $1.
53 Sundry subscribers to the cotton premium $10, for the best bale long staple cotton, same condition as in special $1.
54 J. Holberg & Son, one "Eureka" cotton planter complete, worth $8.00, for the best long staple cotton, same condition as in special $1.

55 Sundry subscribers to the cotton premium $1, also for the best bale of short staple cotton, same condition as in special $1.
56 Sundry subscribers to the cotton premium $10, for the best bale long staple cotton, weighing not less than 450 pounds, grown out of the county and exhibited by any person trading at any point in the Co.
57 Sundry subscribers to the cotton premium $10, for the best bale long staple cotton, same condition as in special $1.
58 Sundry subscribers to the cotton premium $10, for the best bale long staple cotton, same condition as in special $1.

59 Sundry subscribers to the cotton premium $10, for the best bale long staple cotton, same condition as in special $1.
60 Sundry subscribers to the cotton premium $10, for the best bale long staple cotton, same condition as in special $1.
61 W. P. Sweney, $5 for best Natchez county cured ham.
62 J. A. Tyson, $2 for the best 2nd home cured ham.
63 J. A. Tyson, $5 for best side home cured bacon.

64 E. C. Jamison, $2 for 2d best side of home cured bacon.
65 B. K. Jacobson, manure and dealers in clothing and gent's furnishing goods. Mobile, $1.50, thro' Dr. J. C. H. Jones, for best specimen of lard.
66 B. K. Jacobson, thro' Dr. Jones, $1 for 2d best specimen of lard.

67 Ellipse Manufacturing Co., jeans pants &c., Nashville, offer thro' Ames & Adams, a half of handsome Miss. Mills jeans pants for the best specimen of native rice.

VEGETABLES, NUTS, ROOTS &c.
68 D. M. Perry & Co., seedsmen, Detroit, Mich., offer thro' R. M. Marx, a package containing 12 papers of the choicest flower seed and a copy of a very pretty floral album for the best half bushel of Irish potatoes.
69 D. M. Perry & Co., also offer thro' R. M. Marx, 12 papers of their choicest flower seed and a pretty floral album for the best half bushel of sweet potatoes.
70 D. M. Perry & Co., through R. M. Marx, 12 papers of their choicest flower seed and a floral album for the best half bushel of turnips.
71 A. H. Kirtley, plan manure, Jackson, Miss., offer through J. Holberg & Son, one Dixie side harrow complete, worth $7.50, for best display fresh garden vegetables, not less than ten varieties.

72 W. M. Cook, representing Smith Bros & Co., wholesale grocers and coffee importers, New Orleans, $5 thro' J. L. Griggs, for 2nd best display of fresh garden vegetables, not less than ten varieties.

73 Bounville Canning Co., through Will Ford, 1 dozen cans of Tomatoes and 1 doz. cans of corn and tomatoes, mixed, for 3d best display of fresh garden vegetables, not less than ten varieties.

Crying all the time. Poor child, I know what makes you so peevish and cross. Mother must get you a box of those sweet little lozenges called Dr. Bull's Worm Destroyers.

Hon. W. V. Lucas, Ex-State Auditor of Iowa, says: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family and have no hesitation in saying it is an excellent remedy. I believe it is all that is claimed for it. Persons afflicted by a cough or cold will find it a friend." There is no danger from whooping cough when this remedy is used. It cures the disease in 24 to 48 hours. 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Murphy.

Pile! Pile! Itching Piles!
SYMPTOMS:—Mucous, intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which bleed and irritate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, 10c. or by mail, 50 cents. Dr. SWAYNE & SON, Philadelphia, nov16-90

Elections at the I. L. & C. The Trustees of the I. L. & C., completed their labors Wednesday evening, June 11th, and adjourned. After a most interesting examination of qualifications and recommendations of applicants, they elected Prof. Arthur H. Beals, of Paducah, Ky., President of the Institution. His endorsements were of the highest order. He is at present the superintendent of public schools in Paducah, Ky., and is an educator of large experience and high character. He speaks several languages, and has taken degrees in the universities at Glasgow and Heidelberg.

Other chairs were filled as follows: Mistress of Mathematics—Miss M. J. Callaway.
English and Elocution—Miss Pauline V. Orr.
History, Mental and Moral Philosophy—Miss Ellen Martin.
Latin—Miss Jennie T. Clark.
Modern Languages—Miss Ella F. Pegues.

Natural History, Physics and Chemistry—Miss H. M. Quinche.
Industrial and Decorative Art—Miss Sallie C. McLaurin.
Book Keeping and Penmanship—Miss Ruth S. Roundbush.
Photography and Typewriting—Miss Nancy Brooks, (of the class of '90).
The foregoing constitute the Administrative Faculty.

The other positions were filled as follows: Assistant in Mathematics—Miss Edwin Burley.
Assistant in English and Elocution—Miss Fannie Camp.
Assistant in Designing and Engraving—Miss Ella Hutchinson.
Instrumental Music—Miss B. B. R. Clay, Mrs. Adella T. Owen, Assistant—Mrs. Irene T. Ramsey.
Vocal Music—Mrs. L. E. Fowler.
Printing—Miss Minnie Vinson.
Drawing—Miss Jeffer Johnson.
Superintendent of Laundry—Mrs. A. D. Whitfield.
Proctor and Book Keeper—John A. Neilson.
Matron and Assistant to be appointed by the President.—Clarion Ledger.

Canker in the mouth can be cured only by expelling the poisonous humor from the system. To do this, expel the humor from the system by using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, together with a good, generous diet. One dollar a bottle. Six bottles for $5. Begin at once.

Prepare for the Worst.

Summer comes as a very pleasant change after the rigors of long cold winter. Its blue skies, its balmy breezes, its bright flowers and green fields are delicious indeed. But summer has its dark side as well as its bright side. Lurking within its breezes and its flowers are innumerable ill that prey upon the human body. Do not be deceived by appearances. Be warned in time and be prepared for the worst. With a bottle of Pe-na-n and one of Man-a-lin in the house, you are safe enough. Do not fail to keep them constantly on hand. There is not a single summer complaint that they will not promptly correct. Trouble of the Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bowels, which are so common at this season of the year, all yield quickly to these remarkable Family Medicines. They will be found invaluable. Sold by all druggists $1 a bottle.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE.

The Estate of J. W. Sanders, dec'd.) Sale of Storehouse and lot and other buildings at Depot.

By virtue of a decree of the Chancery Court of Natchez County, Mississippi, rendered on the 30th day of April, 1890, authorizing the same, I will on Monday, the 4th day of August, 1890, at the door of the Court House, within legal hours, sell to the highest bidder for cash, the following described lands and buildings lying and being in said county of Natchez, and in the town of Macon, to-wit:

Lot 25 and storehouse thereon at the depot in Macon, and otherwise described as of 3 of block B, according to the depot survey of said town; and also the buildings and improvements on the southeast quarter and southwest quarter of block 3, according to said survey, the purchaser of the latter having the privilege of continuing the lease of said southeast quarter and southwest quarter of block 3, by paying ground rent to the Rogers Locomotive Co. Works.

The title to the above property is believed to be perfect, but the administrator will not convey such title as vests in him by virtue of said decree.

JACOB HOLBERG, Administrator.

JE14-15

We Want Your Trade.

AMES & ADAMS,

DEALERS IN

GENERAL MERCHANDISE.

SPECIALTIES:

GROCERIES—Especially Flour and Lard

ALSO

SHOES AND HATS.

Staple Goods and Farm supplies of Every Description.

CLOTHING,

FINE, MEDIUM AND COMMON.

GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS.

THE ONLY ALLIANCE HOUSE IN MACON,

Highest Market Price paid for COUNTRY PRODUCE.

STATEMENT

SHOWING CONDITION OF THE

Merchants and Farmers Bank,

OF

MACON, MISS., on MAY 31, 1890.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF AN ACT APPROVED MARCH 7th, 1888.

ASSETS:

Overdrafts, $124,176 25

Capital paid in, 50,000 00

Surplus, 1,145 45

Cash on hand and deposited in other banks, 36,062 80

Undivided profits, 6,181 54

Redemptions, 53,157 11

Expenses, 1,968 77

Unpaid dividends, 340 46

Furniture, fixtures and stationery, 438 12

Profit and loss, 2 03

Due depositors, 65,820 26

$12,201 40

$182,801 40

I, R. W. JONES, Jr., Cashier of Merchants & Farmers Bank, of Macon, Mississippi do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true, full and exact statement of the assets and liabilities of said Bank on the day and date named therein, as shown by the books of same.

R. W. JONES, Jr., Cashier.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, a Notary Public, in and for the county of Natchez, State of Mississippi, this 7th day of June, 1890.

JOSEPH L. PATTY, Notary Public.

LIABILITIES

Capital paid in, 50,000 00

Surplus, 1,145 45

Cash on hand and deposited in other banks, 36,062 80

Undivided profits, 6,181 54

Redemptions, 53,157 11

Expenses, 1,968 77

Unpaid dividends, 340 46

Furniture, fixtures and stationery, 438 12

Profit and loss, 2 03

Due depositors, 65,820 26

$12,201 40

$182,801 40

I, R. W. JONES, Jr., Cashier of Merchants & Farmers Bank, of Macon, Mississippi do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true, full and exact statement of the assets and liabilities of said Bank on the day and date named therein, as shown by the books of same.

R. W. JONES, Jr., Cashier.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, a Notary Public, in and for the county of Natchez, State of Mississippi, this 7th day of June, 1890.

JOSEPH L. PATTY, Notary Public.

LIABILITIES

Capital paid in, 50,000 00

Surplus, 1,145 45

Cash on hand and deposited in other banks,